Frequently Asked Questions

Q: What denomination are you affiliated with?

A: We're part of the Assemblies of God Fellowship. You can find our statement of truths here. www.ag.org under the "Beliefs" tab.

Q: Are you a Bible based Christian Church?

A: Absolutely. We take the Word of God very seriously and our Pastors have dedicated their lives to proper understanding and teaching of the Scripture.

Q: What do you mean by Family Church? What is a Family Church?

A: We're a church of Christian Believers who are dedicated to the development and values of the traditional family, but who also understand that the contemporary family is often just as important, if not more important, to the people in them. As a "Family Church" we're committed to bringing both the traditional and the contemporary family together as a Spiritual Family.

Q: What kind of programs do you run for kids and families?

A: We tend to stay away from "programs" in the traditional sense, instead focusing more on what meets the needs of the individuals attending our church. To accomplish that we spend more time focusing on the kids in the services than the average church does. That said, we do have a Jr/Sr High Youth Ministry and a bi-weekly Children's Ministry.

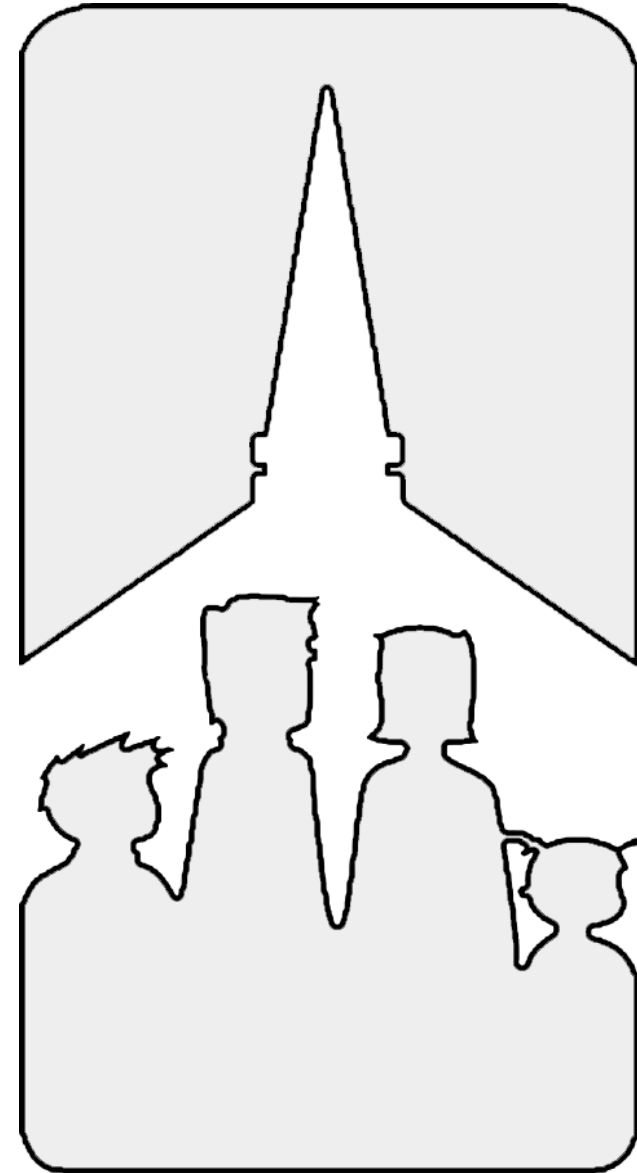

Q: Are the pastor's available for questions and counseling?

A: Absolutely! Connecting with people is our calling. The Leadership here believes in Bi-Vocational ministry, which means they all have other jobs, but we will happily make every effort to connect with someone who wants some of our time.

Wisdom is a funny thing. Its not formulaic like math and factual information. Its more fluid. It applies sometimes and other times it does not. Wisdom is often the ability to sort the information at hand and understand what information you're missing and make a proper decision. Its one of those things that you get from doing things in life that are difficult. Its often a result of failure and definitely a product of pain and suffering. But there are other ways to learn the wisdom of life. The kind that comes from Heaven and blesses those who have it.

First off God says that if any of us lack Wisdom we should ask for it and He will give it to us generously. That's a double edged sword. We can learn a lot from observation and reading the scriptures, as they are filled with God's Wisdom, but there are a great many things that we simply can't learn any other way than to experience them for ourselves. And that means trials and tribulations of various kinds.

Or have you never noticed that those who seem to have the most Wisdom are those who have had the most heartache in life. You gain a perspective through pain that you can't really get any other way. It is one of the reasons our young people often seem immature. They have not had the schoolmaster of sorrow to teach them how to live through the things that life throws at them.

We tend to want to run from trials or to avoid them all together. And while there are some that Wisdom would tell you that fleeing is the best option there are others we should face head on, knowing that our God in Heaven has our best interests in mind at all times. Knowing that He saw the storm coming before it formed. And that once we have weathered the trial we will be better for it. You will be wiser for it in the long run, and that makes us more Christlike!
