Frequently Asked Questions

Q: What denomination are you affiliated with?

A: We're part of the Assemblies of God Fellowship. You can find our statement of truths here. www.ag.org under the "Beliefs" tab.

Q: Are you a Bible based Christian Church?

A: Absolutely. We take the Word of God very seriously and our Pastors have dedicated their lives to proper understanding and teaching of the Scripture.

Q: What do you mean by Family Church? What is a Family Church?

A: We're a church of Christian Believers who are dedicated to the development and values of the traditional family, but who also understand that the contemporary family is often just as important, if not more important, to the people in them. As a "Family Church" we're committed to bringing both the traditional and the contemporary family together as a Spiritual Family.

Q: What kind of programs do you run for kids and families?

A: We tend to stay away from "programs" in the traditional sense, instead focusing more on what meets the needs of the individuals attending our church. To accomplish that we spend more time focusing on the kids in the services than the average church does. That said, we do have a Jr/Sr High Youth Ministry and a bi-weekly Children's Ministry.

Q: Are the pastor's available for questions and counseling?

A: Absolutely! Connecting with people is our calling. The Leadership here believes in Bi-Vocational ministry, which means they all have other jobs, but we will happily make every effort to connect with someone who wants some of our time.

This is a great Mother's Day gift idea!

There are some old phrases that I'm sure we've all heard. "All good things come to an end." "Nothing lasts forever." "Here today, gone tomorrow." and others like them. And while some of the intention behind these old colloquialisms have merit, for the most part they don't really fit into a Christian World View. In Christ all things He cherishes are everlasting. Good things last forever. And tomorrow is irrelevant in the presence of the Eternal King.

But what is true... is that all things change. All things move forward. That is a universal truth that even in Eternity will still hold. What Heaven will be like and our understanding of God when we first arrive in His Eternal Kingdom will have a completely different perspective than it will millennia later. Heaven will still be heaven but the universe around it and more importantly... WE... will continue to change.

And that is really the position of Motherhood. From the moment a child is conceived there is a constant stream of changes. And I'm not just talking about diapers. A child grows. At first measured by days and pounds and later measured by years and milestones (and sometimes still pounds) First steps. First day of School. Girlfriend and Boyfriend. Driving Lessons. Graduation. Marriage. First Grandchildren. Things change, but they are always your child, and no one else's. That is irreplaceable and it cannot be duplicated in the hearts of others.

There seems to be a trend in parenting to capture and hold back the years of change. An attempt to slow and control the process to keep our children, children. That is no more possible than cutting the sky with a knife. In fact it likely does more harm than good. The Bible says that Mary treasured all the events of Jesus' early life up in her heart. She wondered and marveled at what God was doing. You get the sense that she knew she was only along for the ride in her child's life. That one day He would be a man and be all that God planned for Him.

Treasure the days. Do not fight them. Be like Mary, who knew as hard as it was. As traumatizing as it would be. She would need to embrace all that came. But no matter what changed she would still be his mother.
